

Edward Barron

Head of International Government Affairs

Ed was appointed Head of International Government Affairs in March 2018 and is based in the London office of AIG.

In this role, Ed is responsible for developing and leading a coordinated global Government Affairs capability with the aim of ensuring that AIG understands the full breadth of issues and developments that policy makers and stakeholders are working on around the world. Ed is also responsible for making sure AIG has a coordinated voice regarding legislative and regulatory matters of strategic importance to AIG business.

In addition, Ed works closely with the AIG business lines providing strategic counsel with respect to the impact of Government policies on the business.

Prior to this role, Ed has spent the last 15 years at PwC in London where he has been their insurance regulatory leader for a number of years and responsible for all interactions with regulators and policy makers around the world. Ed has worked closely with the insurance sector on a wide range of issues, covering regulation, restructuring, Risk and Compliance. Ed has also worked closely with the Insurance Development Forum on their objective of addressing the protection gap in society through the use of insurance.